Ms. Taylor,

Rather than have a private meeting with you all in Jacksonville, it would be better to have a public meeting here in Starke. This is an important topic and the public space allows for a more open process. Since the Dept of Environmental Protection is accountable to the public as a public agency, and since the very name implies a mission to protect the environment on behalf of the public, discussing this industrial waste process for Chemours in public seems appropriate.

Since you indicate the department's intention to issue the permit, my goal is to hear what parameters you used in deciding there would be no harm to the environment nor to the public. Please be prepared to discuss the recent revelation of radioactive radium.

Sincerely,
Carol Mosley
